

Explore your options while in Treatment

If you are already receiving treatment and are wondering whether there are different options, here are some questions to ask your specialist or doctor.

- What can be changed? --> How will the changes affect my chances?
- Am I on the best drugs? --> What are the alternatives? --> What are the +ve and -ve of each?
- How do I know if I'm getting the right dose?
- Are the drugs I'm taking safe?
- What other options do I have? --> What are the +ve and -ve of each?
- Is the latest assay technology used to make my product?
- How do they measure the potency of the product? --> Do they use the latest and most accurate assays?
- Are rats used to measure the potency of this product?
- Does this product have accurate dosing?
- Is the product consistent from batch to batch?
- Is this product based on urine?
- Are urinary products safe?
- Is there a risk of vCJD from this product?
- How many cycles should I do before taking a break or giving up altogether?
- Is it normal to feel like this? --> What support is available?
- What are IVF's side effects for me/him/baby?
- What other treatments are available? --> What are the +ve and -ve of each?
- Should I see another clinic / Specialist?